Travelling to Dr Richard Bell Workshop WC1

17th November 2017

FINDING US IN WC 1

We will be at the University of Syracuse London Programme Building which is:

Faraday House,

48 – 51 Old Gloucester Street,

London WC1N 3AE

Faraday House in Old Gloucester Street at the end nearest Theobald's Road and next to the Hotel on the corner. This is the end furthest away from Queen Square. It is parallel to Southampton Row but is a small street, rather bijoux in fact.

Technically it's Nos: 48 -51

This is a building used by a number of Colleges and Universities and also some small businesses.

If you get lost or delayed on the day itself, Dennis Bury's mobile No is 07788 44 7017

Travelling to that area, the best Underground line is the Piccadilly Line to Holborn or Russell Square but it is accessible if you are on foot from Euston Station [British Rail & also Victorial Line and other lines] or Kings Cross Station [most other lines] and also Tottenham Court Road Underground where you can transfer onto the Central Line to travel to Holborn.

The key point is to get to Queen Square as the main target and from there Old Gloucester Street just leads off it in the South West corner.

If you are a car traveller, then there are Car Parks quite close and identifiable via the internet.

Buses you can access via 'Transport for London' on the Internet and also other arrival points to the WC1 destination.

On arrival there is a Reception where you will be directed to where your materials are awaiting you and then further to refreshments. Please ask for the 'Dr Richard Bell Workshop'.
